PREDICTS CROWD FOR FIRST GAME

(By Associated Press)
Boston, Sept. 7.—A capacity crowd for the first game of the world's series at Fenway Park next Monday was predicted by the "Secretary" of the Boston American Baseball club. With all the 1599 box seats already disposed of, the grand stand seats placed on sale today went in a way to show that interest in the series was fairly strong on New England. It is not expected that the capacity figure will be even approached this year, but the game fight which the Red Sox were forced to make almost to the last day of the season has served to keep up interest in the team. There are many fans who will turn out just for the possibility of seeing Babe Ruth, Boston's sensational player, make one of his history making drives.

BRITISH TROOPS FORGING AHEAD

(By Associated Press)
London, Sept. 7.—British troops advanced last night on the front to the southeast and northeast of Parang and captured four more towns. AMONG THE DRY.

Camp Kearny, San Diego, Cal. — The 163rd Infantry, formerly the First Arizona Infantry, lays claim to the right to call itself the "driest" regiment in the army. The men base this claim on the fact that the entire commissioned personnel of the regiment, soon after being mustered into federal service, took an oath to drink no intoxicants until the present war is ended.

NEAREST POINT TOWARDS PARIS SIXTY MILES

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 7.—Organization of the first American field army has progressed so rapidly that General March told members of the Senate military committee today that nearly 95 per cent of the American troops with the British and French have been withdrawn. There are now between 90,000 and 100,000 American troops with the British forces. General March pointed out in his conference with the reporters that the German lines now were 60 miles from Paris at their nearest point as compared with 30 miles as late as July 15th.

The Hindenburg line is now only ten miles away from the advancing Allies. Official reports to the War Department show that the Franco-Americans have reached the Alsace on a ten mile front last night while French and American troops farther north were within ten miles of St. Quentin. General Pershing has sent to the Department a report of minor casualties hitherto unreported because of their trivial character. They total 20,000 cases up to August 30th, most of them being men who so slightly wounded that they were returned to the ranks within a few days. General March disclosed that the new policy would be to have General Pershing forward by courier twice a week lists of all wounded. Casualty reports caught from American headquarters will include only dead and missing.

FRENCH TROOPS ON NEW GROUND

Advance With Great Rapidity Two to Four Miles

(By Associated Press)
London, Sept. 7.—Terguier, (two miles west of Laferre), has been captured by French troops. The French troops also reached the forest of Coirey and are now on entirely new ground. This is an advance on a 20 mile front to an average depth of two miles and at some places to a depth of four miles. British progress on practically the whole battle line from Havincourt woods to the river Alsie continued this morning with rather greater rapidity than had been expected.

ON TRAIL OF FLEEING HUNS

(By Associated Press)
Accelerating the flight of the retreating Germans the British, French and American armies have gained important new ground along the entire front from the Alsie to the west of Cambrai. In the northern part of the front the British have pushed forward on a front of more than 16 miles. They have driven in hard upon the left flank of the German lines and captured several additional towns to the south.

South of the Somme the French are reported to have advanced to a depth of two miles on a 20 mile front. Beyond the Oise General Petain's forces made most important gains. General Mangin's army has a difficult task before it where the Germans are established in the forest of St. Gobain. The French have already pushed through the outlying lower forest of Coirey however, and by taking Darlels have begun to press in upon St. Gobain. Along this front the French apparently have reached ground beyond the former German defensive line.

The matter of a new bridge across the Piscataqua comes up this year at Augusta and Mr. Mitchell is the man to have behind the interest of the two towns in this project. The district should send him to the legislature for the previous experience he has had there and for the good he has done for his home town.

DOVER

Dover, Sept. 7.—An examination of the records in the superintendent of schools show more children are attending the public schools at this time than ever before. The total number registered is 1,364, of which number 1,104 are in the graded schools and 260 in the high school.

In spite of the substantial increase of 291 pupils who are entering the local schools for the first time, Superintendent of Schools Wignot stated this morning that the children had been transferred so that there was no possibility of causing any inconvenience from overcrowding. He stated that even with the added number accommodations were better in Dover at present than in many places in the state, he citing an instance where as many as 60 pupils were in one class in a certain New Hampshire city while in Dover the limit was 42 in a class.

The contest for supervisor of Ward 1, which at the primary on last Tuesday resulted in a tie, each of the candidates, Charles C. Dorr and Thomas Sherry, receiving 124 votes was settled Friday morning. Notice had been received by the contestants that a drawing would take place at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the office of the secretary of state in Concord. When this notice reached Mr. Sherry he at once telephoned the secretary of state that he desired to withdraw from the contest. The result is that Mr. Dorr's name will appear on the ballot at the November election as the Republican candidate for this office.

Leut. Charles C. Crowley of the quartermaster's department at Fort Constitution at New Castle, who has been recommended for a promotion to captain and who expects to soon go overseas, was given a farewell reception and banquet at Hilton hall on Thursday evening which was a most successful event. Exeter, Sept. 7.—Twenty-three draftees were sent away by the second district board yesterday morning for Camp Upton, for special or limited service, three failing to respond to the call, the original number called being 26. There were three local boys, Nitt E. Nichols, employed for several years with the Smith grocery firm, Melvin E. Bunker, brother of Chief of Police Elwyn Bunker, and Leroy G. Hersey, formerly driver of the American Express team. A similar call from the first division took Wallace J. Ayer of Stratham and Thurman A. Priest, town clerk of Newmarket, who also goes to Camp Upton, at Yaphank, N. H.

There will be another call for a quota of seven men to go to New Hampshire college on Sept. 19, volunteers for which will be received up to and including Sept. 11.

Many changes in the teaching staff have occurred during the summer. While several especially valuable teachers have resigned because of war or home conditions, Supt. Brooks feels that he has secured unusually strong people to fill their places.

Miss Roxie Odiorne of Exeter, who taught formerly at the Seminary and last year at the high school, will spend the coming year with her father in California. Miss Katherine McGovern, a graduate of Smith college, will have charge of the work in French. Miss McGovern's home is in Springfield, Mass., where she has done public playground work during the past four summers. She spent a part of this summer studying French with Mr. Brooks at the Keene Normal school.

Miss Myrtle Johnson has given up school work for the present to enter the employ of the government. Her place will be taken by Miss Alvera Kilborn of Wakefield, Mass., a graduate of Trinity college, Washington, D. C. Since leaving college, Miss Kilborn has spent some time in travel and study abroad and during the last two years she has been engaged in social service work. Her specialties are Latin and French.

Miss M. Jennie Keenan, the popular junior high teacher, is managing her brother's business in Philadelphia while he is at the front. Miss Laura Fitzgerald, a graduate of the Keene Normal school will be known as junior high assistant and, under Mr. Walker's direction will have general charge of the lower floor of the high school. A Wise and Just Arrangement.

Sound is the decision of the Liberty Loan Committee of New England to depend more largely than at any previous time on newspaper advertising to boom the coming campaign for the sale of Liberty Bonds. The committee found in the last campaign that this kind of advertising was the most powerful agency in selling the bonds, and in the coming campaign it will be used more extensively than ever before.

But the committee is not in favor of asking the newspapers to do more than their fair share in this business. It is aware that the reduction in the size of many papers, due to government order and other causes, would make it unseemly to ask them to do as much as they have in the past, and for this reason firms and corporations are invited to co-operate with the newspapers in properly presenting the claims of the government. Without doubt such co-operation will be readily and cheerfully undertaken and the result will be a system of publicity that will be fair to the papers and highly advantageous in promoting the sale of the bonds.

In this busy age there are many forms of publicity, but everybody knows that there is not one that can compare in effectiveness with newspaper advertising. The newspaper goes into the homes of the people and is read by every member of the household. And the people have confidence in the business announcements that appear in the columns of reputable papers. It is this which constitutes the value of newspaper advertising, a value that is well understood by business men in large communities and small from one end of the country to the other.

There is no other single agency which could equal the newspapers in furthering the sale of the bonds issued by the government for raising funds for war purposes. This has been recognized in the past, and the papers of the country are deserving of the utmost credit for their liberality in boosting the sale of the bonds. They will again be liberal, but it is recognized that it would not be fair to ask them to continue to bear the burden alone, consequently firms, corporations and any organizations that see fit to do so are invited to lend a hand, to the end that the best possible advertising shall not be lacking, and that the papers shall not be made to feel that their generosity is being imposed upon.

It is a good arrangement. It will insure the best results, and do this in fairness and justice to all. No one need fear that the newspapers will insist upon being paid for all they do. Valuable aid will be given freely by them, as it always is in behalf of every worthy cause, and for such advertising as is paid for there will be value received far beyond the cost.

Director General Schwab of the Emergency Fleet isn't throwing compliments right and left simply because people like to receive them, consequently what he had to say about the local shipyards on the occasion of his recent visit meant something. The people of this city and vicinity have a right to be very proud of the plants located here, of the men employed in them and of the work that is being done.

This paper has already received many evidences of appreciation of its enterprise in publishing the pictures of all the young men from this section who are in the service. These pictures should be worth much to the community while the war is in progress, and as presented in book form at the close of the war they will constitute a memorial of priceless value.

Just at present New Hampshire is not represented in the United States Senate, one of its representatives in that body having recently died and the other being in Europe. But after the next election it will be represented, and the name of one of the members will be Henry W. Keyes, unless present indications are entirely misleading.

It is a wonder that in these days of many inventions some one does not get up a device which would prevent the breaking of arms by automobile cranks. There are numerous such casualties every year, and there ought to be a Yankee somewhere smart enough to produce a preventive.

It is claimed that the suspension of pleasure riding on Sundays results in saving from 100,000 to 150,000 barrels of gasoline each week. And it also cuts down the casualty list that appears with such regularity in the Monday papers.

The Germans are said to be undergoing a "formidable disillusionment." And the disillusionment will become still more formidable as it progresses.

The coast resort season is nearing its end, but the best part of the year for the mountain houses is still ahead.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Retired for Incapacity.
(From the Albany Journal.)
The Kaiser seems to be mad at "God." He isn't mentioning him any more.

Labor Has Days and Nights Ahead.
(From the Shreve and Leather Reporter.)
Having celebrated Labor Day let us hope labor will speed up, and help win the war.

May It Be His Left Hand.
(From the Washington Star.)
False reports of U-boat performances are now being circulated in mid-dle Europe. Having failed as a military performer the Kaiser will again try his hand as a naval man.

"Advantage Out!"
(From the New York Sun.)
Those deeply interested in lawn tennis, and closely following the national championship matches at Forest Hills, L. I., understand only too well the real and friendly meaning of the term "yellow peril," although Ambassador Ishii assures us that such is merely a fantasy. Kinnage, however, is stern reality.

Punish Them Now.
(From the St. Paul Pioneer Press.)
There is no probability that Haywood and his principal aides will submit to punishment without further effort to evade it. Indeed, preparations for appeal are already under way, and we may expect a fight to the last ditch.
However, we do not believe that with the national temper what it is today, and the weightings and twistings and efforts to avoid the operation of justice will do them a great deal of good. The life of the nation and the anarchist and professional trouble maker is not the easy thing it was a year or two ago.

The Allies Will Arrange Peace.
(From the Washington Post.)
The Allies will not do injustice to neutrals in establishing peace. But the Allies are now responsible for the security and liberty of the world, and they will not permit any interference with the conscientious and complete execution of their trust.

Keep Up the War.
(From the St. Paul Pioneer Press.)
The Allies cannot cease making war—deadly, destructive war of the kind made in Germany—while the tongues of German editors scream defiance at the nations whom their armies sought to destroy. The routings of Germany's leaders are being paid for by the blood of Germany's sons. Here is a situation beyond the power of the Allies to adjust. It must be determined between the Kaiser's leaders and his fighters whose shall be the sacrifice—that of the leaders in their pride or that of the fighters in their blood. The task of the Allies is but one—to fight Hun insolence and Hun opposition until it is crushed.

"The Terror That Walketh" (From the New York Times.)
The Lepidists will, of course, put Dora Kaplan to death, whether Lenin dies or not. But they remember enough of the old underground terror to be aware that this punishment is no deterrent. The youth who killed Ekhehorn is said to have held the despatch so lightly as to tell them to their faces that he was a delegate from a circle in Moscow, specially sent to the Ukrain to kill Ekhehorn and die himself. Every characteristic of the old terrorism against the czars is present, except that there is an additional fear, which is manifest in the unusual frequency of these assassinations. It is, indeed, war. The Revolution is successfully devouring its children, as was foreordained; anarchy is suicidal, by the nature of it.

When the End Will Begin.
(From the Illustrated London News.)
When Germany will see her Eastern frontier once more threatened by a Russian army, this time supported by Japanese and American troops; and her Turkish ally defeated by Indian armies; while the Balkans will again become the scene of active fighting; and the Huns will once more overrun the Trentino—when French, British and American soldiers are steadily driving the Germans towards the Rhine, the end of the way may at last be in sight.

In bringing about the final victory of the Allies, however, the Japanese will have to play a large part, and that they are prepared to do so is made manifest by their readiness to intervene. They are not a nation to do things by halves. We are advancing into Russia from the north, carefully protecting the Murman coast and Archangel, from which town there is railway communication with the Ural Mountains. Thus the loyal Russians will speedily have the railway points they need, and, with the aid of Japan, great things may be expected before very long.

The World at School.
(From the Montreal Star.)
The war is a great educator. It gives the people daily lessons in geography, science, history and the life and habits of foreign nations.

Japan has rice riots, and everybody learns that rice is the bread of Japan. Before the war, rice riots in Japan would have passed unnoticed, but now they form part of the war news and people want to know all about them.

No part of the globe is better known than Belgium and Northern France. Millions in all countries have followed the armies all over the ground. Daily maps furnish pictures of it to make the lesson easier to learn.

Tanks, aeroplanes, submarines, motorboats, torpedoes, with their special equipment, are all in the war news. How are they made? How do they work? Why do they travel fast, or why don't they travel faster? Everyone wants to know. It's part of the war.

Never before was there so much interest in anything of public importance because never before were there so many ways of creating and satisfying curiosity. If all the attention and intellectual activity now devoted to war questions can be turned on the problems of peace when war ends, humanity will be ready for long steps forward. And why not? Brains are for use, as well as stomachs, ears and eyes.

Silent Heroes, These
(From the Chicago Tribune.)
Blazing, romantic France is a long way from the Mexican border. The soldier heart struggles for a part in the chiefest conflict. Remembering these things, it is well that we think deeply and give tribute and honor to the men of the Army who grimly accept a desperate situation on the border, a situation far out of the line-light, far from the glamour which envelops Picardy, and too far (our eyes always follow the spotlight) from our thoughts of consistent recognition.

It may be disappointing to pace the deserts of the Southwest when greater fields of battle require no lesser courage. The Mexican situation is no mild pastime, calling only for indifferent attention of holiday soldiers. On the contrary, the air is keen with apprehension that demands the alertness of the finished trooper. Eternal vigilance is the price of the border. Vigilance supported by the arms of men who are in no sense excepted in the great analysis of this war period. The casualty lists from the border give us something to think about. They pull us up short to a realization that when men give blood the continent into which it sinks matters little.

Belgium's First Citizen, an American (From the Brooklyn Standard-Union.)
Belgium's unique and gracious honor to Mr. Hoover by officially naming him its "First Citizen and Friend of the Nation," is of far more than personal significance. That the spirit of American sympathy was deep and genuine no one who recalls September, 1914, when the Hun first laid waste by fire and sword the fairest land of Europe, needs to be told, but to Mr. Hoover and the efficient organization which he created and operated was due the effective collection, transmission and distribution of a nation's charity. Leadership and executive force such as he and his staff displayed and commanded were no less necessary than the contributions of food, clothing and all the necessities of life, and the object lesson of efficiency has been of the greatest service in many later like undertakings. The work is not finished and the part both in gathering in America and in distributing in Belgium is a sufficient guarantee that the demands of the coming winter will be promptly and adequately met. Nearly three million tons of food supplies and five thousand of clothing have already gone from America to Belgium, and it is a good time to think what can best be spared to enable this gallant and struggling little people to hold until the day of its deliverance, which draweth nigh, shall actually happen.

SENATOR'S SON ENDS HIS LIFE

Dayton, O., Sept. 7.—The young officer who committed suicide in a local hotel Tuesday night was found today to be Lieutenant Henry P. Hollis Jr., son of Senator Hollis of New Hampshire.

He shot himself and was found dead in bed Thursday morning. He was commissioned July 1 last and had been stationed at the local flying field two months.

Deeply Affected by Airplane Fatality.
Concord, Sept. 7.—News of the death by suicide of Lieut. Henry P. Hollis Jr., reached Concord late Friday afternoon and it was at first understood that he had been killed while flying at the Dayton field. Subsequently his uncle, Allen Hollis, joint director of the War Savings committee, was notified by telegram that the case was one of suicide.
No reason for the young man's act is known here, except that he had brooded over the fatal consequences of an airplane accident in the south, in which a machine he piloted by him, landed on an automobile, and fatally injured a civilian riding in the motor car. A tail spin was the cause of the mishap and young Hollis suffered a broken nose and other injuries. Both he and the civilian were taken to the camp hospital, and occupied adjacent beds. The ordeal was intensified for Hollis, who was then a cadet flyer in training for a commission, when the death of the civilian followed. No blame was put on Hollis for the accident, however, and the same gunnery plane has since figured in another fatal tail spin, and has been condemned by the War Department.

After receiving his commission, Lieutenant Hollis was transferred to the Wilbur Wright flying field at Dayton.

Before leaving for Europe on a special war mission, the nature of which has not been publicly divulged, Senator Hollis visited his son at Camp Dix, and expressed a desire to take an air flight with the young man. The commandant would not consent. He did permit the senator, however, to take a 150-mile flight with a graduate aviator.

Allen Hollis, upon learning of Lieut. Hollis' death, sent a cablegram to the senator.

Henry P. Hollis, Jr., was 23 years of age. He had been a student at Phillips Exeter and at Cornell and had lived with his mother and sister Anne at Princeton, N. J., before entering the military service. This he did upon recovery from the effects of an accident in New York, where he was struck by an automobile, receiving very serious injuries.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Final Game Wednesday.
The final game in the Navy Yard League will be played on Wednesday between the boat shop and the ship-fitters. The team that wins gets the pennant.

Enlisted at Portsmouth.
Secretary Daniels has commented Raymond Pyne, boatmaker's mate first class, U. S. Reserve Force, attached to the U. S. Vulture, for his gallantry and good judgment on March 7, 1918, when his efforts, in the opinion of his commanding officer, averted a double drowning.

While making a line fast, Seaman Greenz fell into the water. In jumping overboard to rescue him, Lieut. Nelson was seriously injured. Seeing that both were in danger of drowning, they jumped overboard, succeeded in passing a line about Lieutenant Nelson, and both the lieutenant and seaman were rescued. Pyne enlisted at Portsmouth navy yard in February, 1917.

New Operator at Yard.
Miss Estelle Dalley, for several years an operator at the Central Telephone Exchange in this city has been appointed as one of the government operators at the local navy yard and begins her duties there on Monday.

GERMAN BARRED.
Chicago, Sept. 7.—The Chicago board of education today voted to discontinue the teaching of German and all other foreign languages in the elementary schools this year.

The Navy Department is returning from their annual vacation preparatory to resuming their duties again.

PEOPLE'S OPINION

This is The Limit.

The welcome sign to enlisted men "Get in and ride" carried by thousands of auto owners appears to be unknown to some people in this city even at this late date.

One night the past week a party of three or four sailors from the navy yard who had been passing the evening at Hampton Beach missed the last electric car and were up against the proposition of getting back to Portsmouth. They were obliged to be back on duty at a certain hour and were filled with anxiety to report at the appointed hour.

Their money was limited and it looked like a long walk. Just as they were starting from the beach a man with a big touring car appeared on his way to Portsmouth. The boys held him up, explained the circumstances and asked him to take them to this city. The spirit of profligate appeared at once.

Did he offer the boys a seat and a ride? No. He looked them over and informed them that they could ride for $1.00 each. They did not have the price and if they possessed the necessary money it was not the spirit in asking them to pay that amount.

But the boys got home and it did not cost them a nickel through the kindness and spirit of a Portsmouth woman who came along with a car hardly large enough to carry herself and one other. She got them in the best she could and was not satisfied until she landed them at the navy yard gate as late as two o'clock in the morning.

What made the matter more noticeable by the sailors was the fact that the seats of his car were empty and the boys are wondering if the owner is one of those patriotic citizens who is helping to win the war by keeping his machine in the garage on Sunday and saving gas for the country to help the boys over there.

JEWES OBSERVE THEIR NEW YEAR

The Jewish New Year, generally observed throughout the country, was opened last night with solemn services in all Jewish synagogues.

In Boston patriotic sermons were delivered and prayers offered for a successful outcome of the war.

Services were held by the Jews in various cantonments where military necessity did not permit of the enlisted men being furloughed. These services were conducted under the auspices of the board for Jewish welfare work in the United States army and navy.

The Jewish New Year marks the beginning of the principal holiday season of the Jewish year. While the day is really the new moon of the seventh month (Tishri)—the calendar beginning with the Spring month—Nisan—yet the religious importance of the month so emphasized this particular new moon observance that it gradually assumed the importance of the New Year day. It is the beginning of the cycle known as the "ten days of repentance" ending with the holiest day of the year, the day of Atonement. In contrast with the rest of the period, which are days of sadness and penitence, the New Year day has always been observed among the Jews as a day of solemn joy and happiness. It is called in the Bible the Day of Memorial and to the Jew it marks the recording of the deeds of the past year for judgment—a judgment which is, however, suspended until after the day of Atonement when through true repentance of sin and contrition the sins of the past may be blotted out and new opportunity afforded to live a life of purity and usefulness.

It is also called the Day of the Blowing of the Trumpet and around this ceremony—the blowing of the Shofar or ram's horn—the service of the day revolves. The ram's horn is supposed to refer to the salvation of Isaac and the substitution of a ram in his place when Abraham was about to slay him in his wrong understanding of God's demand for a sacrifice (Genesis XXII).

As is the case with all Jewish holy-days, the observance begins at the preceding sundown Friday and in the orthodox synagogues lasts until sundown Sunday—two days being observed in place of one as is the custom in the reform synagogues.

NO FAVORITISM IN DRAFT SYSTEM

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 6.—Changes of favoritism in the working of the selective draft by which well-to-do young men escaped military service have been investigated and a report of the facts ascertained has been sent to Governor Yager by Attorney General Kern. As yet the authorities are not prepared to make it public.

The Adjutant General of Porto Rico.

John A. Wilson, in commenting on the question of favoritism, said that he had personally investigated a number of accusations against local boards made to him in letters and that, so far he had not found a case where exemption had been granted or men had not been called because of unfair or dishonest action on the part of the boards.

Frequently investigations have shown that a change was made in haphazard, irresponsible fashion without any effort to learn the facts in the case.

ESCAPED PRISONER IS FOUND

Concord, Sept. 7.—Warden C. H. Howe and Officer Ed. Silva left Concord yesterday noon for Ellsworth, Me., to bring back Charles Harris, a prisoner who escaped from the New Hampshire state prison on August 11.

After the escape of the prisoner Warden Howe has been confident that the man would be captured. His years of experience as a police official enabled him to put his operation method of procedure which seldom misses.

He has been in communication with police officials at Ellsworth, Me., and working under instructions of Warden

Howe, a trap was set for Harris who walked right into the snare. Officers were waiting and nabbed him the moment he put in an appearance.

The capture was made at East Orland, six miles from Ellsworth, by Sheriff Ward Westcott of Hancock county.

As punishment for his escape, Harris will probably be compelled to serve his maximum term, which will mean four more years in the state prison at Concord.

Warden Howe speaks highly of the manner in which the Maine officials assisted him.

JUST DAVID
By ELEANOR H. FORTER
Author of "Pollyanna"

Ten year old David and his father (a famous violinist) lived on a mountain, with the woods, the wild things, and their two violins. Then a change came and David was left to the care of gruff farmer folk in whom the warmth of kindness was buried deep. But "Just David" brought music and sunshine into many lives and played a part in a very pretty romance.

They are Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pepton, the combination of which is giving so much satisfaction in the treatment of the impure, impoverished blood and weak, worn-out nerves that are so often found in the same individual nowadays.

Passenger Car Situation

Present conditions seem to bear out the news reports that after January 1 all automobile manufacturers must have their plants producing 10 per cent war work. The best we can hope for is that they may be allowed to produce trucks and chassis to be used for business purposes. The number of cars we will receive by the end of this year is very limited and therefore we advise you to buy your Ford today. After our present stock is exhausted there will be another advance in price of $20 for transportation.

CLEVELAND CITY OF MONEY

From This Little Story It Would Seem There Are Some Phytocasts in the Ohio Metropolis.

A New York hotel manager just back from a Western trip declares that the high cost of living is not confined to New York when it comes to dining out. "Occasionally we hear a blast from some one who has been kicked to the war line in the region of the bright lights," said the manager, "but let me tell you there are many tortured cries elsewhere. Cleveland has the jump on most of the high cost of things along the gustatory route. In looking over the bill of fare at one of the big hotels there I noticed one, special dish was emphasized in black letters. It was Philadelphia capon, for which $7.50 was asked for a single portion. I much prefer just plain chicken, but if this capon thing was the caper, why I was willing to go the route. The head waiter was sympathetically apologetic. 'I'm sorry, sir; but the last portion has just been served. We've had a phenomenal run on the capon. In the present plenitude of money in Cleveland I do not doubt that there would be a ravening run on Philadelphia capon if it were offered at $10 a portion. It is a relentless appetite that will not be denied.'

THOSE THIN, HARD YANKEES

Typical of a Race of Whom It Has Been Said They Shall Inherit the Earth.

Recently we sat in a refreshment room of a railroad station conversing casually with a foreign officer. Suddenly tall men in olive drab began to come in by groups to wash up. They were on their way. The officer, though he tried to go on talking, couldn't keep his eyes off the men, and his responses became more and more absent as they continued to crowd in.

"My God!" he exclaimed, "where do they come from?"

"Then we looked at them. Not one seemed less than six feet tall. They were thin, hard, big-fisted, crag-faced lot of men, the color of new bronze; each with two deep lines around the mouth; gentle with each other, speaking softly, but certainly the most formidable German killers you could find in all the world. We should not have noticed them particularly but for the officers' dazed ap- preclusion.

"They are probably from somewhere in the rubbains," we said at last. The officer gave us a strange look. Such men as these, and we took them so much for granted that we couldn't tell where they came from!—New York Tribune.

Insects That Help Mankind.
One of the great sources of loss in wheat growing has been due to the injurious activities of the wheat-midge, which feeds on the grain, and, if unmolested by its natural insect enemies, would soon reduce our wheat crops to the vanishing point. But several of our friendly insects keep the midge in restraint, one being the ravenous two-winged flies which seize and carry away the midge, and suck out its juices. Its most powerful foe, however, is the parasite that lives on the midge—a small, black fly, somewhat resembling the ant. The young of these four-winged flies live on the larvae and eggs of the midge. As the midge increases in number, these parasites also increase, for they depend for a living on the midge, and the more midges there are the more parasites there are on hand to eat them up.

How Negroes Go to Camp.
Twelve hundred colored drafted men went down one winter night to Camp Upton. They arrived in the dark about eleven o'clock. It was raining and freezing. Many of the men were without overcoats. And they were soft, having been waiters, clerks and in other indoor occupations. They arrived in camp soaked to the skin, tired and hungry. Were they cursing and grumbling? No. They came in singing.

"Good-by, Lenox Avenue; Hello, Berlin!" And their melodious negro voices rang out in cheerful defiance to the angry night, to the hard life before them and to the possible death that awaited them. That's the stuff that is in Americans—and it is war that is bringing it out.—American Magazine.

Selling Eggs by the Pound.
Canada has been making the experiment of selling eggs by the pound instead of by the dozen, according to Consul Fred O. Slater, Berlin, Ontario.

"The only obstacle in the way of a unanimous endorsement of the plan is seemingly that the public has not been educated to buy that way," says Mr. Slater. "As refuting this objection, it is pointed out that, in view of the wide variation in the size of eggs, the consumer would quickly realize that the system affords a fair and just basis of charge."

Job for a Statistician.
When the war is over it, would be an interesting if laborious task for some expert statistician to figure out just how much money Germany spent on propaganda work and just how much she got for her money.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Literally.
"I certainly have been up against it."
"What's the matter this time?"
"I leaned in my new suit on the front door when I didn't know it had been painted."

U. S. HAS THE LARGEST COOKING SCHOOL

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 6.—Nine hundred skilled cooks, trained for overseas duty, have been graduated in classes of 300 from the government school for cooks and bakers, the largest school of its kind in the country, which is being conducted at Camp
Hodges here under command of Captain Fred H. Morrell.

Students graduating must reach the following standard: Practical work, 50 per cent; recitation and theory, 20 per cent; care of kitchen, 15 per cent; discipline, 15 per cent. The majority of those graduated have been taken from the course for second cooks, with first cooks next in number and mess sergeants third.

The course includes lectures and instruction on rationing, bills of fare, component parts, field specifications, preparation, sanitation, temperatures, mess management, stock sheets, field cooking, recipes and visits to the kitchen. The school is a part of the training of food values most needed to suit conditions existing in various places in being drilled into the students.

Great attention also is given to food conservation. The army must not waste and cooks are taught to throw all particles of meat and bone into a 20-gallon pot where the mixture is boiled and the fat rendered. The stock is then used for gravies and soups.

Some companies here require the men to weigh what is left on their plates and the amount is deducted from the next meal, thus adjusting the food needed to their appetites.

The sanitation course requires the mess officers to keep kitchen, mess hall, refrigerators, ovens and cooking utensils hygienically clean. This applies to tables and floors. How to set the tables is an important part of the study.

Experiments are conducted to develop means of using substitutes for four such as oatmeal, cornmeal, and rice flour. Use of sirup instead of sugar wherever possible is encouraged.

"Food wastage," said Captain Morrell, "is not always the fault of the soldier at the mess table. The cook is often to blame. If he doesn't cook the food right, it will be distasteful to the man and they will refuse to eat all set before them. The well cooked meal puts the men in good spirits as well as helping them physically."

A record of food conservation was kept at the detention camp where the recruits are quartered and fed under the direction of Captain Morrell. Of 72,179 pounds of flour allowed the camp in fourteen days only 34,166 pounds were used and yet every man had all the bread he desired.

WORLD SERIES BULLETINS

The Herald bulletin board gave the only news of the World Series base ball game received in Portsmouth, which came over the Associated Press wires. The local general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Baily, through the courtesy of The Herald, gave the scores to all the camps in this section. The Herald phones were kept busy late into the evening by parties anxious to obtain the news.

LOCAL MAN TO ATTEND MEETING.

This is the second annual convention and will be held at Chicago Monday, September 9. About a hundred affiliated unions will be represented.

STILL ALARM.

The auto chemical was called at 7:45 Friday evening to a house on Pickering street occupied by Jeremiah Sweeney. The fire started from gas which escaped from a pipe that was being fixed and ignited when somebody lighted a match. There was small damage to the house.

Somebody with a weak mind sent in a false alarm to the auto chemical on Friday afternoon. This is a punishable offense and will be dealt with by the police if the person is located.

S. S. CONVENTION.

The annual State Convention of the New Hampshire Sunday School Association will be held in Concord October 9 to 11. The program will be in keeping with the patriotism of the times. Noted speakers and Sunday school workers will take part. The Sunday schools of Portsmouth will doubtless be represented at this gathering.

ENLISTED MEN CANNOT VISIT THE BEACHES

Sailors and Soldiers Ordered to Keep Away From Hampton and Salisbury Owing to Conditions.

Evidently the visits of the sailors and soldier boys to Hampton and Salisbury beaches for the summer season of 1918 have been cut short and no more will the uniform of the navy and army be seen at these seashore resorts if the government carries out its orders just issued to the army and navy authorities.

This order barring the men, came from Major William B. Wright Jr., of the United States Army Sanitary Corps, Boston, and is the result of close investigation which has been carried on by the government officials for some time. The government men claim that there is insufficient police protection at these resorts, that steel walkers gather there day and night and conditions are dangerous owing to the evil existing there.

This follows the previous rule of clearing the beaches at 10 o'clock which the government finds did not bring the results looked for.

Following the orders of Major Wright Rear Admiral Boush, Commandant of the navy yard and Major Greene, commanding the army reservation at New Castle, posted the restriction notice to the men.

SOLDIERS AT DURHAM TO GIVE MINSTRELS

Men at Training Camp to Appear in Black-face Comedy.

A free industrial show is to be given Monday evening at 8 o'clock by men in training for the National army at New Hampshire college, Durham. The show will be given on the college campus and will be under the direction of Peter Fahy of Manchester, who has had five years' experience in this line. The performance, consisting of professionals and it is hoped there will be a good representation from Portsmouth and nearby towns as undoubtedly the performance will be well worth going some distance to witness.

PRIVATE LONERGAN IS HEARD FROM

Letter Says He Is Well and Hopes to Be Home Soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Lonergan of Stark street, whose son was lately reported "Missing in action" somewhere in France, since July 10, received a letter from his today saying he was well and hoped to be home before a great while.

The letter was written on Aug. 11 and mailed Aug. 15. Private Lonergan was "killed for bravery" in action early in the summer and it is good news to his family and friends that the late report from overseas of his being missing was evidently without foundation.

LOSS TO THE M. E. SOCIETY.

The death of Daniel McIntire removes from the Methodist church one of its most loyal and devoted members. His faithfulness to his church was marked as he was a constant attendant at church services and prayer meetings for years, going constantly to these services until early this summer when his health began to fail. He was a member of the church, having united with it in early life; a member of the official board, and taught a class in Sunday school for many years until recently when his health failed, probably holding the record as a Sunday school teacher for one of his age, having nearly reached his ninetieth birthday. He was unusually active and alert for one of his age and was loved and honored by the entire Methodist parish. A good man and a noble citizen has gone from this life but the memory of one of such fine characteristics and Christian virtues will long be revered.
